

CONCESSION TO POLICY OF U. S. URGED ON UNION

BULLETIN

HAVANA, Feb. 2.—Establishment of the right of appeal for justice to the Pan American union, as to a League of Nations, was recommended in a special report to the international law committee of the Pan American conference today by Victor Maurtua, of Peru.

HAVANA, Feb. 2.—A concession to U. S. views on intervention by one nation in another's affairs was made today in the official report to be made to the Pan American conference international law committee by Victor Maurtua, of Peru.

A Rio de Janeiro meeting of jurists had recommended that in a proposed international law code the declaration should be made that: No state may intervene in the internal affairs of another.

Senator Maurtua's official report recommended that the following section should be substituted:

"Every state is independent in the sense that it has the right to maintain its own welfare and develop itself freely without intervention or control from other states; but in the exercise of this right it must not affect nor violate the rights of other states."

Maurtua proposed also that the Pan American union, in the code, proclaim the equality of all states.

STEWART FACES COURT ACTION IN OIL INQUIRY

money by buying millions of barrels of oil at $1.50 a barrel and, without handling the oil, selling it immediately at $1.75 a barrel. Stewart testified he had bought some of this oil from Continental, but only because he thought it was cheap. He said he was not concerned with what the Continental made out of the deal.

Stewart admitted he guaranteed the contract whereby the Continental made the $3,000,000 profits the committee is tracing, but said he had to do it to get the oil.

"Like Guaranteeing Note" "It was just like guaranteeing a note after the note is paid," Stewart said.

For that reason he joined with Harry Sinclair, he said, to consummate the deal.

From these $3,000,000 profits, the committee has learned that Sinclair sent $235,000 to former Secretary of Interior Fall, after Fall had leased Teapot Dome to Sinclair.

A contract worth $5,000,000 was bought by oil men in the Continental Trading company deal for $400,000. E. G. Seubert, president of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, told the senate Teapot Dome committee.

Continental Sells Contract Seubert said that after the Continental had made $3,000,000 profits from the contract under which it was to buy 50,000,000 barrels of Mexico oil, it sold the contract to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Prairie Oil and Gas company.

The remainder of the contract was worth $5,000,000, but the deal was made for $400,000.

"I don't know why it was done," Seubert said. "I didn't have anything to do with the deal."

Doomed Negro Granted New Reprieve

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Feb. 2.—Governor Young today granted a second reprieve of three weeks to George Watters, Sacramento negro, sentenced to die on the gallows for killing his wife and dismembering her body.

The governor said the second stay of execution was given to permit of further study of the Watters case, which has developed several new and important angles.

DEPUTY HEALTH OFFICER NAMED THIS MORNING

Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer, announced today the appointment of Dr. Ben H. Parks, formerly of the Oklahoma state board of health, as deputy health officer.

Dr. Parks will fill the vacancy left by Dr. Sutherland when he became health officer after Dr. V. G. Presson, who formerly held the position, resigned.

The new official began his activity today when he and Dr. Sutherland went to Anaheim, where they are carrying on an immunization campaign against diphtheria among the school children there. Two schools already have been completed.

Dr. Parks is a graduate of the University of Illinois and did interne work in the Seaside hospital, of Long Beach. He arrived in Santa Ana yesterday after driving here from Oklahoma.

He is taking part in the health department's immunization campaign throughout the county, which is being carried on in the hope of ridding the district of this disease.

Dr. Sutherland reported that 217 children were given toxin anti-toxin injections in Orange yesterday under the direction of Miss Isabel Durgan, department nurse.

In Santa Ana Dr. G. C. Ruble, school physician, is pushing this activity and is working today at the Spurgeon school. The Muir school children received the injections yesterday. Lowell school is next on the list, with Edison to follow, according to Dr. Ruble.

He stated that between 50 and 60 per cent of the youngsters are taking advantage of the opportunity for immunization. The McKinley and Franklin schools were completed by the health department before Dr. Ruble took over his work in Santa Ana.

He pointed out that there is nothing compulsory about the treatment. He also is giving physical examinations to those who wish them and referring cases which need treatment to physicians. Such children are given cards to show their parents, who are asked to leave them with their physicians, who in turn, send them back to Dr. Ruble in order that a check may be made on the results of the examinations.

Clarence Speer

Clarence Speer was elected president of the Hammond club of the Santa Ana high school for the coming semester at a meeting held last night at the high school. Other officers included Eugene Gilbert, vice president; Delmer Brown, treasurer; Willena Bell, secretary; and Margaret Taylor, censor critic.

John Wykes, a new member, was initiated under the direction of Miss Olive Granger.

Miss Lucille Meyer gave an interesting discussion of "Poems of Japan."

TOASTMASTERS CLUB HOST TO ORANGE BODY

Last night was visitors' night at the Toastmasters club, meeting in its regular weekly session at the Y.M.C.A. The members had the privilege of inviting friends as guests for the evening, and a number of visitors were present. In addition, the entire membership of the Orange Toastmasters' club attended and had part in the program.

Elmer Steffenson was the toastmaster for the evening, and under his guidance, there were no dull moments. The schedule of speeches introduced by him was of a high grade, and would have done credit to any assemblage of orators. There were many impromptu talks, but the principal addresses were given as follows:

"Loyalty," discussed by C. E. Hawk with his usual vigor.

"Fame," presented by C. W. Rowland, in the course of which he took occasion to pay high tribute to the achievements of Lindbergh.

"The Missing Link," by Nat H. Neff, afforded a vehicle for a fine presentation of the subject of trees in relation to the country and city beautiful.

"Roses" was the theme treated by Walter Dunlap, who gave out much useful information on the subject, and appealed for more attention to be given locally to the growing of roses.

The Toastmasters club meets each Wednesday night at the Y.M.C.A. Sam Hurwitz is president, and Carl Edgar secretary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Lt. George H. Towner and two U. S. marine companions hoped off from Anacosta naval air station at 6:25 a. m., today, on a one-stop flight to Nicaragua. They traveled in a large Fokker transport plane.

They expected to reach Miami, Fla., late today, refuel there and continue to Managua, the Nicaraguan capital, as soon as possible.

The plane, the third sent to Nicaragua in two months, will be used to transport supplies to U. S. marines fighting insurgents in the interior. With Lieutenant Towner were Lt. James B. McHugh, radio operator, and Corp. Robert Wenck, mechanic.

Rail Commission Engineer Witness In Gas Rate Fight

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2.—Samuel S. Bloom, assistant engineer of the state railroad commission, was on the witness stand today before commission members and the city continued to press its fight against the Los Angeles Gas and Electric corporation for reduced rates.

Bloom's testimony had to do with exhibit 13, which is a part of the investigation papers which the commission engineers and the city

Thief Steals Two Shoes; Both Rights

Three women walked into the Economy shoe store here the other day and asked to look at shoes. They tried on several pairs and then left without making a purchase. After they had gone the clerk found that he was short two shoes.

The joke, however, seems to be on the shoplifters, because both the missing shoes were made for the right foot and one was size 5, the other 5 1/2.

The theft was reported to the police and officers are looking for a woman wearing two "right handed" shoes.

FAMILY BEGINS FIGHT TO SAVE YOUNG HICKMAN

were waiting outside of the courtroom to be called.

The morning session became a ghastly recital as the defense called police officials and other state witnesses, who once again went over the details of the murder.

With the constant repetition and description of how Hickman had butchered the child, the killer's deeds became more horrifying.

Women left the courtroom and the jury members strained in their seats, but throughout the entire session the slayer sat immobile, only his eyes giving evidence that he heard.

Chief of Detectives Herman Cline and Inspector Longuevan furnished most of the testimony at the morning session.

Teacher on Stand Mrs. Mary Holt, a teacher in the Mount Vernon high school, sobbed her story of how Hickman had lured the Parker child from school and a newspaper photographer furnished the climax with the introduction of his gruesome work.

Wayby Hunt, 18-year-old bandit pal, with whom Hickman must stand trial for the murder of Ivy Toms, Rose Hill druggist, also made his appearance on the stand as a defense witness.

The tall, lanky, blond youth, who stepped to the stand with the daintiness of a woman, repeated how "The Fox" had once told him that he had had an impulse for several years to kill somebody and dismember their body.

With the thrice-told tale of Hickman's crime completed, the introduction of the knife, with which the butchery was done, and the offering of the ghastly exhibits of the portions of the child's body, the defense had nearly rested its case.

has been gathering together in the past months is an endeavor to reduce the present 82 cents per 1000 cubic feet gas rate to an amount which they indicate would allow for the coming year an eight per cent profit for the gas and electric company.

ATTORNEY ASKS JURY TO VISIT ORANGE GROVE

The fresh air and sunshine of the outside world almost swept over Judge James L. Allen's court today. Spectators and lawyers alike were taken by surprise when T. L. McFadden, attorney for W. B. Dennis, of Orange, in a $25,000 damage suit against that city, moved that the scene of action be shifted to the orchard on the banks of the Santiago creek where the floods of last winter carved several acres from the Dennis ranch.

The motion was made in order to give the jury a chance to see the evidence at first hand and opposing counsel argued that not only the jury but the reporter and entire legal machinery would have to be transported to the grove.

The removal, at least to allow the jurors to see the results of the wash, is still a possibility, although the idea of taking the whole court to the ranch seemed to meet with slight favor and the case was resumed in its accustomed surroundings.

The defense began producing witnesses today, the plaintiff having concluded its evidence yesterday afternoon. Ranchers of Orange county are said to be watching the developments with considerable interest, while various city officials from Orange are attending the trial, some of them as witnesses.

Dennis contends that the city allowed the firm of Kavanagh and Twoby, who also are defendants, to dredge for sand and gravel too near his property, thereby causing the stream to wash away numerous trees and much good dirt.

J. A. West and L. F. Coburn represent the city, while McFadden and Holden are counsel for Dennis. James Fitzpatrick and Delancy Smith are handling the case for Kavanagh and Twoby.

GROWERS PAID $1,741,130 FOR CITRUS FRUIT

ANAHEIM, Feb. 2.—Increasing to practically $5,000,000 the total amount reported as returned to the Anaheim district for citrus fruits shipped during the past season, the annual report of Secretary-Manager W. H. Schureman, presented at the annual membership meeting of the Anaheim Citrus Fruit association, held in the Elks clubhouse today, reflected the most successful season this house has ever experienced.

Schureman reported that, during the past season, his house handled a total of 1038 carloads of fruit, 19 per cent more fruit than was handled in 1926, bringing gross returns aggregating $1,741,130.47.

The Anaheim Co-operative Orange association, an M. O. D. house, previously reported a total gross return for season of $1,949,454.40 and the Anaheim Orange and Lemon association, $1,041,462.24, the reports of these major houses showing combined returns of $4,732,047.11. Adding to this the money brought into the district by cash buyers and other independent operators, it is conservatively estimated that Anaheim's 1927 citrus crop was worth considerably more than $5,000,000.

Approximately 3000 cars of fruit were shipped by these three houses, as follows: Anaheim Citrus Fruit, 1038; Anaheim Co-operative, approximately 1260 and Anaheim Orange and Lemon, 707.

Some 325 member-growers and their guests gathered at the Elks' clubhouse this morning for the all-day membership meeting. O. S. Steward, president of the board of directors, presiding. Routine business matters occupied most of the attention of the meeting at the morning session.

FOUND GUILTY ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Inese Rodarte, of Anaheim, was found guilty today by a jury in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court of possession of liquor. As soon as his case was completed, Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman proceeded with trying L. E. Lopez, also of Anaheim, on the same charge.

Judgment on Rodarte had not been pronounced at noon today.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Two groups of investigators today inquired into the circumstances surrounding the death of Miss Sadie Holland. She first underwent an operation designed to straighten her bowed legs. Later both legs were amputated.

Miss Holland today was expected to recover. The state's attorney's office and the state department of registration both conducted investigations of the operation.

Dr. Henry J. Schireson, plastic surgeon, and Dr. S. D. Zaph, orthopedic surgeon, performed the leg straightening operation. Later Dr. William Van Doren, Holland family physician, examined the girl and decided to move her to another hospital.

This was done over Dr. Schireson's protests and after Miss Holland had signed statements releasing Schireson from responsibility for what might happen thereafter.

Dr. Van Doren called a surgeon into consultation and it was found that gangrene made amputation of both legs necessary to save Miss Holland's life.

Dr. Schireson, in New York today, sent word that he considered the entire case was a case of "professional abduction."

He said the girl was improving rapidly and the operation was "a complete success" until she was moved from the original hospital.

LAGUNA BEACH OFFICERS OUT ON $5000 BAIL

After providing two $5000 bail bonds yesterday in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, George E. Johnston, Laguna Beach, city councilman, and J. E. Neal, city treasurer, are awaiting today the coming of March 1, when their preliminary examination will take place in regard to alleged issuing of stock in the Coast Industries, Inc., without permission of the corporation commission.

Johnston and Neal will be represented by the firm of Head, Wellington, Jacobs and Scovel. They both are officers in the company, against which a number of civil suits have been launched. T. A. Cummings, mayor of Laguna Beach, is among those who claim to have been sold stock by the concern when it had not the authority to make the deal.

Johnston and Neal were arrested Tuesday night and released on bail.

That section of the world, little known to civilized peoples, the South Sea Wondersland, was brought before the eyes of the appreciative audience which gathered at the Ebell auditorium last night to hear Branson De Cou, noted traveler and lecturer, present his "Dream Pictures" about which he wove an interesting and entertaining tale.

Starting with pictures showing the arrival of Mr. De Cou and his party in Samoa and Fiji, which he calls "the island gems of the South Seas," the lecturer showed a number of colorful views depicting the natives of the islands in their homes and villages.

To the accompaniment of a beautiful musical selection, a series of lovely views of plant life common to these islands was projected upon the screen.

From the "island gems" Mr. De Cou switched his audience to New Zealand where the glimpses of the glorious scenery on that small island met with delighted comment.

The tragic history of the island, Tasmania, which had been used as a prison island by the British from 180 to 186 was repeated by the lecturer as he showed views of the rapidly disappearing ruins of prison settlements on the island.

Australia was hastily passed over by Mr. De Cou who announced that it was entirely too modern to offer romance to the tourist. He paused long enough, however, to describe the mammoth caves to be seen on that smallest of the continents.

"Next door to the cannibals" was the expression used by the noted traveler when he flashed scenes, from New Guinea, upon the screen. The pictures, which had to do with the life of the Papuans, a primitive tribe upon the island, showed the natives living in grass houses built upon stilts at the water's edge. Other views proved the statement that they were entirely uncivilized.

The island, Java, the garden of the east, was next described with the aid of the dream pictures after which views of Ceylon, the Isle of enchantment were presented.

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 2.—Collection of licenses reported for the final day in January by City Clerk G. W. Prior was in the neighborhood of $1500. JUVENILE DELINQUENCY TO BE SUBJECT OF STATEWIDE PROBE GOVERNOR ANNOUNCES

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 2.—What makes a bad boy bad? This question, which involves the whole problem of juvenile delinquency and its relation to the rapid increase of crime in California, is soon to be investigated by the state on a widespread scale.

Inspired by the now famous, nicknamed as a "bad" character. Hickman murder case, in which a high school youth murdered and dismembered a little girl, the state is now planning its intensive survey with the hope of finding some way of reaching delinquent boys and girls before they become criminals.

"Boys of the type of Hickman ought to be apprehended in high school," said William John Cooper, state superintendent of public instruction, in the course of a recent discussion before Governor Young's cabinet.

Cooper said he believed in mental hygiene in public schools as well as physical hygiene, and voiced approval of the plan suggested by Mrs. Anna L. Saylor, director of the department of public welfare, that children known to be of the "bad" type should be checked before they went into crime.

Mrs. Saylor cited a youth in Oakland, who was attending public schools, and who was recog-

"There seemed to be no one to take him in charge," said Mrs. Saylor, "and so he went on until he burned down buildings valued at more than $3,000,000. Then he was accepted as a criminal, and the law took its course."

The great majority of boys seem to go astray as the result of stealing automobiles, Mrs. Saylor reported, as the result of a survey at Preston state school for boys. Next to this cause are dance halls and pool rooms.

"The old woodpile is gone, and so many other things that kept the youth of yesterday at home," she said. "Our big task is to find something to replace them."

Governor Young is still seeking the right persons to place on his commission to investigate juvenile delinquency, authorized by the 1927 legislature. The commission will consist of seven members, and will report to the 1929 legislature a plan for "prevention of delinquency, and for the care of delinquent, pre-delinquent, psychopathic and maladjusted children."

LAGUNA WATER CONTROL TOPIC FOR COUNCIL

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 2.—Consideration of the different tentative estimates and plans for control of the Laguna channel and the necessity of readjusting the Forest avenue improvements were the chief matters claiming the attention of the city council last night, with the sign ordinance again delayed and alley abandonment once more a perplexing problem.

Vernon W. Hunt, appointed to take the place of O. G. Hoegstedt as city attorney, pointed out that the resolution of intention which had been advertised was not sufficient to insure sale of bonds. He elaborated the matter after Councilman Joseph R. Jahraus had made a motion annulling the published resolution.

Hunt pointed out that the law was ambiguous and that the best informed specialist was unable to state positively the exact safe procedure. However, it seemed that the only method which would not be open to serious doubt as to the validity of the resulting bond issue would be to readvertise in The Register and in a local paper and also post, thus covering all possibilities. It was not expected that the delay would be so great as to take the work into the summer, according to the opinion of the attorney.

Three methods of controlling slough which runs almost through the main portions of the city were suggested by City Engineer A. J. Stead, who supplied tentative figures. One of them would follow the rights-of-way secured by the county, but this was open to the serious objection of great expense, the estimate given being $135,000. Another would open a new channel with an outlet above the highest tide possible, the course to follow Foster street a portion of the distance, thence taking to the west along certain alleys. The expense entailed by this was estimated by Stead at about $142,000.

I never have been able to learn the identity of the person who fastened on me the reputation of being a weather forecaster. But whoever it was, the thing has gone far enough.

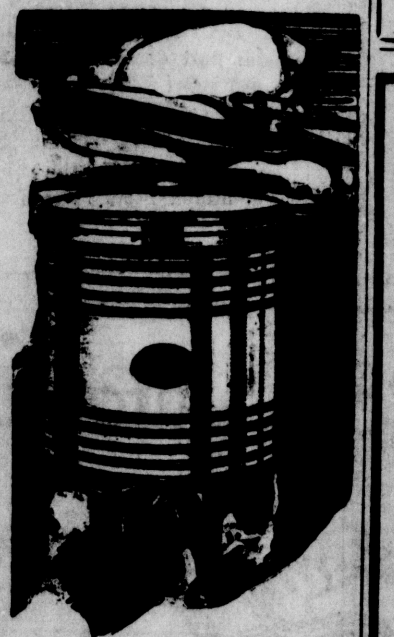

I want to make one final and unqualified denial that me and my shadow have anything to do with the end of winter and the coming of spring. The idea is too ridiculous for words.

For one thing, they say I never wake up from my winter slumber until the second day of February. That's pure canard. I'm no such sleepy head. See the picture that accompanies this article—the one of me and my suburban home? Well, it's an old one out of the family album, and it was taken, I remember, on the twentieth of January.

Time after time this talk that I'm a weather regulator has been disproved. But still people hang on to the old humbug. How can they be so silly?

I might say that I'm writing this piece mainly as a matter of justice to the U. S. weather bureau. If you really want to know what sort of weather there's going to be after February 2, ask your nearest meteorologist. If he tells you wrong, don't blame the groundhog.

16 DOCTORS IN STATE FORFEIT THEIR PERMITS

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 2.—The state of California, which waged relentless warfare against "quack doctors" during 1927, resulting in the revocation of 16 doctors' licenses, will continue its campaign with renewed vigor in 1928. This became evident here with the announcement by Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary of the state board of medical examiners, that a total of 14 physicians are slated to answer charges of unprofessional conduct at the first meeting of the board in Los Angeles February 28.

The way was cleared for prosecutions of the board by the 1927 legislature, which not only passed laws forbidding the so-called "diploma mills" aimed at illegal medical certificates, but also tightened up restrictions on prescribing of narcotics.

Of the 14 physicians who will answer charges next month, eight are from Los Angeles. They are as follows: Charles A. Bailey, narcotics; John Elmer Baker, poison law; J. Balser, conspiracy to commit murder; Fred J. Barnett, liquor; James T. Brown, violation of probation; Donald E. Harris, advertising under a fictitious name; John J. Richstein, illegal advertising; and Douglas MacMillan, illegal advertising.

Other accused medics include F. B. Moran, Dallas, Texas, narcotics; Paul Bauer, Sacramento, naturopath practicing beyond the scope of his license; James A. Hadley, Arcadia, illegal operation; G. Carl H. McPheeters, Fresno, betraying professional secrets; Milton A. Neims, Walla Walla, Wn., narcotics; and Robert B. Williams, San Francisco, narcotics.

Particular attention will be paid to "therapeutic fakirs," Dr. Pinkham said in his last report to Governor Young. Southern California, he declared, offers an "attractive field for these persons because of its host of tourists and large foreign population."

"Who can understand the gullibility of sufferers who pay exorbitant sums to voodoo doctors," the report continued.

"How can a normal mind conceive of some of the apparatus or methods employed in beyond comprehension. The public should be protected against this class of charlatans who ghoulishly prey on suffering humanity."

CITY SENDING OUT BILLS ON WATER TODAY

Patrons of the municipal water department should today be receiving statements of their water accounts for the first time under the regulation recently announced for inauguration on February 1.

The new plan is the mailing of bills the day following the reading of meters, and it is anticipated some consumers will be non-plussed by the size of the bills received in the first mailing under the new rule.

For more than 20 years past, it has been the custom of the department to mail statements on the first of each month for water that may have been consumed from 30 to 45 days before receipt of the due bill.

In bringing operation of the collection department down to date, February bills will carry charges for virtually two months. It was explained today by E. B. Collier, city manager.

Pointing out that bills paid in January were on the basis of meter readings in December, the city manager said that in some instances the bills rendered in February will be for water consumed in December and January.

A revision also has been made in water rates, but only industrial users a large amount each month will be affected, and to most of this type of users the change is a reduction in the schedule of charges.

The minimum charge is $1.25 a month and the allowance on this is 1000 cubic feet of water every 30 days. The rate for the next 3000 feet is 10 cents per 1000, and the schedule for consumption in excess of 4000 gallons is 8 cents per 1000.

Credit for unconsumed portions of the minimum of 1000 feet a month has also been discontinued, but credits that have been accumulated under the old method will be recognized. It is said that some consumers have credits they can never hope to exhaust.

The city water office has recently installed new equipment for the details of bookkeeping and account rendering. The ledger entry and the making of a statement for mailing to the consumer is done in one operation, where formerly it was necessary in sending out statements to write in ink the amount due and the amount of taxes operation of the department, Collier said, and makes the issuance of statements daily, following meter reading, a simple matter. Reading of individual meters will as near as possible be made on the same date each month.

WAR CHIEF OF GERMANY OUT BUT NOT DOWN

BY GUSTAV STOLPER
Special Radio Dispatch to The Register

Copyright, 1928, by The Consolidated Press Association

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—As Dr. Otto Gessler leaves the war ministry, a tired man, broken by family misfortunes, it is timely to inquire how for he succeeded in accomplishing his task of training the new German army into a dependable instrument for the republic.

Dr. Gessler's problem was perhaps the most impossible of all the Versailles peace dictates—the problem of disarming Germany alone in the midst of an over-militarized Europe.

After the Kapp putsch in 1920, when he became minister of defense, succeeding the Socialist, Noske, Gessler found only a pile of ruins, on which he must build slowly.

It was Gessler who was obliged by the allied control commission's dictate to disarm and reduce the army's proportions. It was Gessler who put down the monarchist putsch in Bavaria and in Austria, and who also was obliged at the same time to employ the reichswehr against the Communists in Saxony.

Gessler's nerves were strained above all by the unbroken chains of demands made by the allies until only a few months ago, when the humiliating control commission departed.

And in the midst of all these happenings, the impossible had to be attempted—to make a mercenary of 100,000 men without heavy artillery, tanks or airplanes, an instrument that could play any role whatever for the defense of Germany's borders.

Whether the attempt succeeded is very doubtful, but in considering the political problem of Germany's armed forces, it must be remembered that the kernel of this new army was naturally the officers of the proudest army the world ever saw—officers of the old Prussian military tradition, whose daily labors reminded them more than was the case with other German citizens how the German people had been humbled by the lost war.

Only one who understands this physis disunion was in a position gradually to train the army's leaders to an understanding of present realities. President Ebert once threatened to resign if Gessler left and Gessler remained. President Hindenburg also stood behind him when confronted with a choice between Gessler and General Von Zeck, who had, behind Gessler's back, permitted a Hohenzollern prince to enter the army.

But the left parties had less

FARMER WOMAN IN OKLAHOMA

Prescribes Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Because It Gave Her Health and Strength

In a sunny pasture in Oklahoma, a herd of sleek cows was grazing. They made a pretty picture. But the thin woman in the blue checked apron sighed as she looked at them. She was tired of cows, tired of her tedious work in the dairy. She was tired of cooking for a household of boarders, besides caring for her own family. The burdens of life seemed too heavy for her failing health. She had lost confidence in herself.

One day she began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and her general health began to improve. She took it faithfully. Now she can do her work without any trouble, sleep well and is no longer blue and tired.

This woman, Mrs. Cora Short, R. R. 2, Box 257, Oklahoma City, Okla., writes: "I've been now says: 'Mrs. Short, what are you doing to yourself?' I weigh 135 and my weight before I took it was 115. I have taken seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound."

RUSSIA PLANS AMPLE FUNDS FOR INDUSTRY

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Production in Russia will be stimulated to the tune of 1,400,000,000 gold rubles, set aside by the soviet government during the coming year for the development of various industries, including mining, textiles, sugar, metallurgy, petroleum, machine shops, automobiles and power plants, according to Professor A. P. Serebrowsky of the Moscow Mining academy, who has been traveling through the United States and Alaska studying American methods in mining.

A number of large projects are under way in Russia in various industrial fields that bid fair to put that country in the first rank of producing nations when the program is completed, according to Professor Serebrowsky. Among new projects in Russia Professor Serebrowsky mentions the pipe line now under construction from Grozny to the Black Sea, to be completed this spring. Another pipe line from Baku on the Caspian sea to Batum on the Black sea is now being built at a cost of $5,000,000 rubles, to be finished in 1929.

One great oil refinery in Baku was finished in 1927, and another is under construction in the same place for the production of lubricating oils. In Batum, a kerosene refinery has been completed by the Standard Oil company.

The Russian oil industry has attained to 135 per cent over the pre-war rate of production, says Professor Serebrowsky and the coal in-

Let Nature be your dietitian

How few of us have time to become dietetic experts! But all of us want our meals to be nourishing and healthful—to furnish all the food elements we need. Then why not follow Nature's advice?

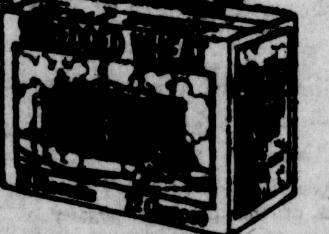

Long before we heard of proteins, carbohydrates, mineral salts, Nature combined them—each in the right proportion—and gave us a perfect food—whole wheat.

Shredded Wheat is all of the wheat—all the food elements for energy and strength—plus all the bran of the whole wheat grain to keep your system healthy and clear.

With milk or cream and sugar, or with melted butter and salt, it is delightfully refreshing and nourishing. If you like a hot cereal, just pour on hot milk—there's no other hot breakfast so easy to serve.

Just start all your mornings with Shredded Wheat. Then you'll be giving your body the food it needs, in the way that Nature intended.

KIWANIS CLUB MEET IN CAL THEATER

Representatives of the Los Angeles Soap company provided the entertainment for the Kiwanis club, yesterday, at the West Coast-Walker, which was the place of the session.

Incidentally, it may be stated that the meeting of the club at the theater was in celebration of the anniversary of completion of the building; the club have met there on the occasion of their anniversary, and repeat the incident each year.

The "White King" quartette, which broadcasts a program every week over KFI, entertained for half hour with the singing of popular numbers and closing with a play of old-time favorites. The organization is composed of Glass, first tenor; Dr. Campbell, second tenor; Paul Adams, second tenor; and Frank Jocelyn, baritone. The process of manufacturing soap was revealed in moving pictures, with R. E. Burns explaining the conversion of ingredients into soap in various forms. The company has been in operation in Los Angeles for many years and its products are depicted in the pictures, something of a revelation to Kiwanians.

Lunches were served the club and were highly enjoyed as a treat from the regular weekly menu.

The program was arranged by W. Martin, chairman of the club committee, and Maurice Heffernan, who acted as chairman for the evening.

It was made known that a meeting of Kiwanians of the fourth district will be held at Elks hall, Anaheim, Friday evening.

Gov. W. O. Harris will visit Santa Ana and deliver an address.

Manager Maxwell reported the season as experiencing one of the seasons in its history, although he was unable to present annual report, which was destroyed in the recent fire which destroyed the plant. He estimated shipments for 1927 as 164 an increase of 25 per cent the preceding year.

WHEN YOUR HAND GOES TO YOUR HEART

Difficulty in breathing and heart palpitation are symptoms of high blood pressure, which may cut off life suddenly. Our modern habits of life are responsible, putting too great a strain upon the vital organs, especially the liver.

When the liver becomes "limp" or sluggish it fails to cleanse the blood of the toxic poisons formed in food waste. The poisons then permeate the system, affecting stomach, kidneys, heart and blood pressure.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as medical men today know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. A few bring impressive results. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at druggists.—Adv.

S. A. THESPIANS WILL PRESENT LOVE IN MIST

"Our first play for the 1928 season, 'Love in a Mist,' is ideally cast," declared Mrs. Marion Helm Williams, director for the Santa Ana Community Players, today. "The parts seem as though specially written for the local players chosen to interpret them."

"Mona Summers Smith, who plays Miss Diana Wynne, the feminine lead, is much the same type as Madge Kennedy, the star who made such a hit in the part in New York last summer and later in San Francisco. Moreover, Mrs. Smith saw Miss Kennedy in the part in San Francisco and is familiar with her interpretation of it."

"Herbert Clayton in the role of Gregory Farnham, Miss Diana's fiancé, has a professional touch that makes the audience forget it is witnessing an amateur performance. Clayton has appeared in many Community Player performances in past seasons and is one of the members of the organization who always can be depended upon to give a finished, skillful rendering of the character entrusted to his care."

Mrs. Julia Ann Hyde, who takes the part of Miss Anna Moore Wynne, maiden aunt of Miss Diana, lends the character gracefulness and charm, and is admirably fitted to the portrayal of the handsome society woman, middle-aged but markedly romantic.

"Miss Edith Thatcher as Sidney Rose Wynne, pretty cousin of the heroine, is herself as pretty, vivacious and lovable as the character could be imagined. Miss Thatcher is declared to be a real find for the players by those who have seen her at rehearsals and I am sure her work will be watched with interest by all local players."

"Emil Foust, too, I feel we have chosen a player well fitted to his character. Slender, dark, animated he plays the Italian, Count Scipione Varello, with his artistic and erratic tendencies to perfection. Foust is too well known to Santa Ana audiences to need any introduction."

"Miss Mabel C. Larrick and Rex Hoover as Kizzy the colored maid and Colin the gardener, also a person of color, lend many delightful touches to the play as the story is unfolded and as both are new to Santa Ana Community Players, their work will be followed with special interest."

"We are now rehearsing at the Temple theater practically every evening and the players are all entering so earnestly into their work that I feel confident they will be better perfect several days before the play opens."

"I feel perfectly sure that I am not making unwarranted statements in saying that when the doors of the Temple theater open February 9 for a three-night run of 'Love in a Mist' that every play lover who attends will be assured a delightful evening's entertainment."

The Well Known Sock

It was a famous institution once—but that was before the Farmers & Merchants Savings Bank invented a sock that would stretch and increase its contents automatically. The old type of sock has been discarded for our new plus-fours—plus four per cent.

The old sock bank never paid interest anyway—and often leaked through the hole in the toe. Our kind not only doesn't leak, but it adds 4 per cent to itself annually. A pretty good sock to have, especially when you're filling it with some investment object in view, or for the meeting of obligations later.

DEMPSEY'S RING RETIREMENT IS DOUBTED

Santa Ana Hoopsters Go To Glendale Tomorrow

SQUAD MORALE IMPROVED FOR NEXT CONTEST

Both First String and 'C' Men Face Turning Point In Basketball Season

After a week of comparative solitude which has served as a valuable medium in recovering some of the composure lost last week in a brilliant battle at South Pasadena, Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana high school basketball team will embark for Glendale and its fourth Coast Preparatory league game tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Clyde Cook's stalwart Class C (110-pound) troupe, still very much in the pennant procession, will go along to compete against the lowly Glendale babes in a preliminary. The eye-opener will get under way about 3:30 o'clock.

With the exception of Captain Warren Sullivan, the flaming-haired Irish guard, Santa Ana's varsity ensemble is in fine fighting trim for its current assignment and Coach Foote expects the season's best demonstration from his merry men. Sullivan, a running guard, still is bothered with a sore case of blood poisoning inside his foot and there appears no likelihood that he will get in against the Dynamiters.

No Games This Week
The rest of the brigade has profited from a week free from rugged training. Foote feeling that his men were entitled to a mid-season layoff after three hard engagements last week. Foote believes that the morale of his club is much better than it was a week ago when the boys had just staggered through stern brushes with Orange and Tustin.

Comparative scores indicate a slight Glendale superiority in Class A but with the Saint "Gees" holding what advantage there may be from past experiences. Glendale, like Santa Ana, has lost two and won but one varsity conflict. The Dynamiters licked South Pasadena, 24 to 17, to start the season, whereas Santa Ana was a 12 to 15 victim of the Tiger last Friday. Glendale lost, 22 to 30, to San Diego. Santa Ana has not yet met the Hilltoppers so there is no basis for a comparison there, but Glendale's 42 to 15 downfall before Long Beach last week does not represent nearly as good a showing as Santa Ana made against the Jackrabbits.

Glendale made an improved showing in Class C basketball last week, holding Long Beach to a 12 to 11 count. Santa Ana's "Lift-It Men" humbled the Seasideers, 30 to 8 and also made a much better stand against South Pasadena, losing 22 to 14 while Glendale dropped a 31 to 11 match to the same opposition.

Probable Starters Listed
Orville Schuchardt and Curt Youel are almost sure to start at forward for the Santa Ana first string and Alden Swindler and Jim Musick will be at the guards. Foote has two possibilities at center—"Reg" Rust and Melvin Beatty.

The Class C starters are likely to be Herren and Homan at forward, Lindley at center, and Captain Hall and Schmidt at guard. Other league games this week send Long Beach to South Pasadena.

FEW PITCHERS WON 20 GAMES LAST SEASON

With the lively ball now in use, winning 20 or more games in a single season is becoming more difficult, according to major league statistics. Last season only seven pitchers were able to turn the trick.

WHITE HOYT WON 22, LOST 7, LAST YEAR

Uhle Led Every Gunner in Big Time with Total Of 27 Victories

BY BILLY EVANS

Winning 20 or more victories in the majors, with the lively ball now in use and the short fences that surround a number of the parks, continues to be a mighty difficult feat.

In the two major leagues in 1927, just six pitchers were able to reach the 20 or better figure in games won. Four of these pitchers worked in the National, two in the American.

No National league pitcher was able to win more than 20 games. Kremer, Rhem, Donohue and Meadows just reached that mark.

Two A. L. Heavens Shine
The two American league pitchers to shine were Uhle of Cleveland with 27 battles to his credit, and Pennock, who registered 23 triumphs.

Last year the number of twirlers to reach the coveted figure in the majors was increased by one over the preceding season. Once again the National offered four such stars while the American had three.

A striking coincidence about the hurling records of these two years is the fact that not one of the six to go 20 or better games in 1927 was able to repeat last season. Pennock and Meadows fell just one short of the charmed number, while Kremer, out for a couple of months with a bad knee, was two games away.

Root Led National Gunners
In the National league averages for 1927, we find Root of Chicago with the most victories, 26; likewise, he lost the most games of the four outstanding pitchers in the senior organization, as 15 defeats were charged to him.

Haines of St. Louis, with 24 wins and only 10 defeats, finished with the best average, followed by Alexander, with 21 wins and 10 losses and Hill with 23 victories against 11 reverses.

The American league data shows Waite Hoyt as the pitching ace of that organization with 22 wins and only seven defeats. "Lefty" Grove finished second with 20 and 12, while Lyons was third with 22-14.

It will be noted that of the seven leading pitchers of the two leagues men able to win 20 or more ball games, only Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics is a left-hander.

Difficulty in holding a working margin of one or two run lead, is what makes pitching such a trying job these days, and the winning of 20 ball games so difficult a task.

Major league pitchers never consider a game reasonably safe unless they have a five-run lead. A margin of four runs or less is always considered dangerous.

Often it is an easy matter to fill the bases. It can be done through an error, a hit and a base on balls, or various other ways, in a jiffy and then looms the danger of a home run that will tie a four-run lead and wipe out a lesser advantage. Home runs, you know, are no longer uncommon.

All of which may partly explain why pitching is considered at least 65 per cent of the average base ball game.

dena, San Diego to Whittier and Alhambra to Pasadena.

The championship race now appears to be a two-way one between San Diego and Long Beach with the latter institution a heavy favorite to repeat last winter's success. Both of these schools, as well as Pasadena, have good men for mid-term graduation after tomorrow's games and whether they will be able to carry on will be

SANTA ANA-LONG BEACH HOOP TIE HERE TOMORROW NIGHT DECIDES ENTRY TO PLAYOFFS

The distinction of entering the playoffs for the Southern California Junior College conference basketball championships will be the prize for the winner of tomorrow night's duel here between Santa Ana and Long Beach colleges which will take place in Andrews gymnasium beginning at 8 o'clock.

Long Beach enters the frolic with a perfect season's record, not having lost a game this season, practice or regular conference skirmish. The Vikings point to this record with pride, the 1928 schedule being the first participated in by the school which was founded only last year.

Santa Ana has not been so fortunate, its record being dotted here and there with black marks but there is no denying the fact that Walter Scott has developed a highly efficient scoring combination among his Dons and one that is quite likely to rudely shock the confident visitors if it functions properly.

Long Beach trounced Compton, 50 to 15, while Santa Ana buried the Tartars, 42 to 4. Long Beach won from Glendale 46 to 25 and Santa Ana laced that opponent 42 to 16. These scores would indicate Santa Ana as the stronger crew defensively and the weaker offensively, yet it has been considered all along that the Dons range-finders, Edgar, Youel and Cook, were the most important factors in the lineup. Standings in both divisions of the junior college conference follow:

DR. PELTZER, GERMAN STAR, IN AMERICAN DEBUT TONIGHT

BY FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The red tape which officials placed in the path of the capable spikes of Dr. Otto Peltzer, has been severed at last, and the German champion runs tonight in what promises to be the feature event of the annual Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden.

On the same track where Paavo Nurmi triumphed and Edwin Wide failed, Dr. Peltzer will compete at the distance at which he is the world's record holder—the half mile. Opposed to the fleet German, who will be making his first start on the boards will be American distance runner of unusually high caliber—Phil Edwards, the Negro star from Canada who sports the colors of New York university; Pincus Sober, a crack New York half miler and Johnny Holden, of the New York A. C. The field in Dr. Peltzer's race has been limited by the Millrose officials to afford the German runner every opportunity.

Last night the foreign relations committee of the A. A. U. announced that the visiting champion would be permitted to compete in the 880 run tonight and provisionally, in a 1,000 meter race at the Illinois A. C. meet at Chicago Feb. 10.

While the special half mile is expected to be the feature, the Millrose games tonight command unusual interest from American track and field fans because they present this nation's potential Olympic strength in the first important indoor meet of the year.

DEMPSEY RING LIFE FULL OF COLOR, DRAMA

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Announcement of Jack Dempsey's inability to fight in June—whether it be permanent retirement from the ring or just temporary—recalls dramatic episodes in the career of the man from Manassas, the first ever to win a million dollars with his two fists.

Dempsey is quoted from Los Angeles as saying:

"I may never fight again. I can't tell just now. But I haven't definitely retired. I don't know what I am going to do. I may fight in September, but I won't fight in June."

The first intimation that Dempsey might be through with the ring came from Tex Rickard at Miami Beach, who said Dempsey had definitely retired as a championship contender and some other opponent would have to be found for Gene Tunney in June.

Dempsey agreed he would be unable to fight in June, owing to eye trouble, but followed with the statement regarding permanent retirement.

Many in New York boxing circles were disinclined to believe that Dempsey had permanently forsaken boxing—which he helped build from an ordinary sport to a million dollar business.

From the time when Dempsey poked a cautious, stubbled chin out from beneath a freight car from the west until the day when he cut down big Jess Willard, at Toledo, Jack was just one more prize fighter in a motley herd.

From Toledo to today Dempsey has been a picturesque figure of the American prize ring, yielding the palm only to John L. Sullivan in this respect.

Accused as a war time slacker, married to one of the screen's loveliest actresses, hounded from state to state by a mediocre negro heavyweight, triumphant over all heavyweight opponents from 1919 to 1926, the butt of lawyers and the toast of fight fans, Jack Dempsey had a variegated career.

Popular in Defeat
Just how much money he made it is impossible to say, because the truth in such matters is elusive. But Dempsey netted more than $1,000,000 from the two losing fights he fought with Gene Tunney.

New York, which knew Dempsey only occasionally, only took him to its heart after his defeat. Then, for the first time, Dempsey became popular here.

That his departure from the list of possible opponents for Gene Tunney in June has cost the heavyweight situation and those who benefit therefrom at least $1,000,000 goes without saying.

It is doubtful if even the "elimination tournament" which now takes on new importance in the eyes of Tex Rickard and the public can produce a contender who will draw much more than that sum against Tunney.

Jack Dempsey's career in the ring was one of the most successful in pugilistic history.

Matches engaged in 70; knock outs 48; won 11; knocked out 1; no decision 2; draw 4; lost 4.

He won the heavyweight championship from Jess Willard in three rounds in 1919. His fights by years since then have resulted as follows:

1920—Knocked out Billy Miske, 3 rounds; Bill Brennan, 12.
1921—Knocked out Georges Carpentier, 4.
1922—Won from Tom Gibbons, 15 rounds.
1923—Knocked out Luis Firpo, 2 rounds.
1924—Lost heavyweight championship to Gene Tunney in 10 rounds.
1927—Knocked out Jack Sharkey, 7; lost again to Tunney, 10.

GEORGE SISLER TALKS TO CLUB FOLK AT BEACH

The 1928 American league pennant race will be a nip and tuck battle between New York, Washington and Philadelphia in the opinion of one of the keenest judges of baseball talent and one of the grandest players of all time—George Harold Sisler, peerless first baseman.

"The Sizzler," who leaves Laguna Beach February 10 to report to his new allegiance, Washington, expressed the above as his personal opinion yesterday when, as the guest of honor, he addressed members of the Newport Beach Exchange club, at the Southern Seas club.

"Detroit has a fine team and will be the 'dark horse' but I believe the Yankees and the Senators will have it out for the right to play in the world series," Sisler said. "New York, a heavy favorite with most of the close observers, will be a hard team to beat of course but the Yankee pitching staff is not a young one and you never can tell when the old timers are going to crack in baseball. With the exception of Pipiras and Hoyt, the Yanks haven't a pitcher who can be considered young."

Sisler touched briefly on the recent sensational trade which sent Rogers Hornsby, famous New York Giant infielder, to the Boston Braves in return for a pair of comparative novices.

"Hornsby is a fine fellow and not a 'weicher' as some have accused him," Sisler stated. "He doesn't drink or smoke and has none of the so-called vices except gambling and I imagine Rogers will never do that again. He is of the dominating type, however, and I presume it was this characteristic that led to the trade."

"Most of the big baseball stars are humble and unassuming and that goes for Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Walter Johnson, Babe Ruth and all the rest. Cobb and Ruth have had their fights and spats on the diamond but they

OLYMPIC BOUND

Having annexed the national collegiate two-mile championship last year while captain of the Marquette University track and cross-country teams, Melvin ("Buster") Shimek, Bohemian runner, has his eye set on the Olympics. He is training with Coach Behr's Illinois Athletic Club squad.

Shimek, the former heavyweight champion stood by the nomenclature of his retirement made yesterday—all of them.

While many believed Dempsey was suffering a real eye trouble, skeptics were inclined to look the Manassas Mauler's move "ballyhoo" for another title.

The latter group points out Dempsey does not want to through an elimination tournament. They believe Jack will out of the running only until Tunney has met one of the promising luminaries and the is clear for another Dempsey Tunney match.

Retirement Scouted
Even the group that is vined that Dempsey's eye badly injured and his general physical condition far below former mark do not believe facts would keep Dempsey in retirement long.

Jack said his eye was hurt the first Tunney bout in Philadelphia. The present championship gave Dempsey a bad pothole on the left side of the face.

The same eye was hurt again Chicago in the second Tun fight and the present trouble the outgrowth of this latter test, Dempsey indicated.

"The oculist tells me the probably have had a little rhage, which I received when ney butted me in the seventh eighth round of our Chicago Decision Is His Own

"He thinks that I had a cut. The eye is perfect, even when I look down and the wiggles a little bit."

Dempsey said that whether fought again or not was up to him and that it was right" with his wife, Estelle lor.

Here's the life history of the world's best pipe tobacco

We took the finest Burley that ever came out of old Kentucky. We aged it, then mellowed it by an old-time slow-but-sure secret process—the Wellman Method.

We cut it, not in fine, quick-burning chips, but in coarse, chaggy flakes that smoke as cool as a brick sea breeze.

Then we packed it in sensible, comfortable foil (instead of costly tin) and called it Granger Rough Cut.

To half a million smokers it's "the finest pipe tobacco I ever laid a match to."

'SIZZLER' IN NEW ROLE

SPORTSMATTERS

BY FRANK GETTY
JUNIOR PRESS SPORTS SERVICE

The cent's first important indoor meet of the season takes place tonight in Madison Square Garden, where a galaxy of track and field stars will compete in the annual games of the Millrose A. A.

While tradition decrees that the high spot of the evening shall be the running of the historic "Millrose 600," the fact that this is an Olympic year has stimulated interest and competition in a number of other events.

Meet of these youngsters who will be competing tonight are ambitious to go to Amsterdam. They are starting now to lay the foundation for their claims to recognition by the selection committee of the American Olympic Association.

Take the case of the sprinters. One or two races do not necessarily stamp one performer as better than another, if they are reasonably close. So many minute things count in a short dash of 60, 70, or even 100 yards.

The United States will send to Amsterdam a squad of sprinters including the fastest new running in any country. But what those who select the team are most interested in is consistency. They want sprinters who can be counted upon to get away fast and keep going when that starting pistol lets go at Amsterdam on July 29.

An "in-and-out," even if he has slipped up to the tape ahead of a more consistent rival on one or two occasions, might not prove as valuable as the man he managed to beat once or twice, provided both were capable of winging the century in something like 9 7-10 seconds.

One of the features of tonight's meet will be a sprint series at 40, 50 and 60 yards.

The 40-yard dash will be run first and then the 60, with the two fastest men in each of these events qualifying for the 50-yard dash in lieu of a final heat.

Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown star, whose sprinting has been the most consistent of the present season, probably will start. Chet Bowman of the Newark A. C., who was timed in 9 3-4 seconds while winning the national A. A. U. 100-yard championship at Lincoln last year, is another starter.

Others are Al Miller, the 200 pounder, formerly of Harvard; Alf Leomey of the Meadowbrook Club, and Alderman, former Michigan State star.

Another sprinter little known in the east, who will be making his debut tonight is Robert Greenwade of the New Mexico State Teachers College.

Greenwade has challenged Charley Paddock and everyone else to a 300-yard sprint around the Garden track.

"I have run against European sprinters in Sweden, Finland and Germany," writes Greenwade, who toured Europe in 1926 with Johnny Kuck, the weight tosser of the Kansas A. C. "These men had beaten Paddock and I beat some of them myself at Stockholm and Helsinki."

The former Kansan has been clocked in 31 1-5 for the 300, and 46 seconds for the quarter.

JACK DEMPSEY RETIREMENT IS MUCH DOUBTED

ited to the champion in answer to Tex Rickard's announcement of Dempsey's retirement was bewildering.

He told the United Press: "That's absolutely right; I am through. I have instructed Rickard not to figure on me at all. My trouble, which I am advised may result in something serious if I put on the gloves again is the reason."

The statements published by Los Angeles papers and the comments of sports writers here who know Dempsey well shed many lights on the situation.

Statements credited to Dempsey, and various comments by sports writers on Dempsey's reported retirement and on rumors that he was to manage Armand Emanuel, a promising young San Francisco heavyweight were:

"Get Together, Jack!"

Sid Elin, Evening Express—"Five minutes after Jack Dempsey told Bill Smith of the Express that he was through boxing forever he told a news association correspondent that he would meet Tunney in September. Get together, Jack, get together."

Bob Cronin, Illustrated News—"Quoted Dempsey, 'I have not retired from the ring and I won't know what my future plans will be for at least four months.'"

Harry Grayson, Record—"This may all be true, but it has every appearance of ballyhoo. Tunney isn't much good without Dempsey, who can collect in the neighborhood of $500,000 for another comeback. The rejection of that kind of money would be something new in any line, let alone the fight racket."

Mark Kelly, Examiner—"One never knows whether to accept Dempsey's public statements at face value or not. But for the moment he is on the square in telling the world he is retiring. He says he is going to manage fighters, too, which leads one to believe that his recent beatings have left him bobbing a bit."

Bill Henry, Times—"This Dempsey business—will he fight?—reminds us of the days previous to the Dempsey-Gibbons fight at Shelby. Up until 24 hours before the fight, it was on and off every few minutes."

Jack James, Herald—"Our Mr. Dempsey not to fight any more—not anyone—not even Mr. Tunney? I can scarcely believe it. And yet I must believe it at this writing."

realize the value of color and showmanship.

"Baseball has changed in the past 10 years. When I broke in with the St. Louis Browns most of the youngsters were after glory and their first desire was to make good but now the young college fellows come along and their primary interest in the sport is to make god so that they can get into the big money and acquire enough capital to get in some profitable business when their baseball days are done."

Sisler was introduced by George MacLeod, secretary of the Exchange club.

SHAW FIGHTS FOR ACCUSED POSTMAN

LONDON, Feb. 2.—George Bernard Shaw has returned to his attack against the post office for depriving a postman of a pension earned by 37 years' service because he was convicted of stealing a postal order for 10 shillings.

"The postmaster general's remark that there is no precedent for treating delinquent postmen with common honesty can suggest nothing except that the present offers an excellent occasion for creating one," says Shaw.

Referring to the postmaster general's charge that the accused postman, Hammond, is guilty of many other thefts, Shaw says:

"The size of the theft has nothing to do with it. Assuming that Hammond never in the course of his 37 years' service was intrusted with a letter containing money without stealing it; that he forged postage stamps to the value of 5,000,000 pounds; that he rifled the post office regularly once a fortnight and set fire to the premises to conceal his crime; that he polygamously married dozens of telephonists and deserted them after spending their hard earned savings in riotous living; in short, let us assume that the very lightest sentence that could be passed on him was one of 20 years' penal servitude.

"In that case, if he went to prison clad in his shabbiest suit, with an old clay pipe in his pocket, that suit and that pipe would solemnly be preserved and handed back to him at the expiration of his term to show the respect of law for property."

Versatile Water Tap Spouts Booze

AKRON, O., Feb. 2.—A versatile water spigot was discovered recently by detectives raiding a house in search of liquor.

The spigot, if turned on in the ordinary way, would produce a stream of clear water. If a slender instrument such as a knife blade were inserted at the base, a stream of not so clear corn liquor issued forth.

Lena Blackburne is liked as coach of the Chicago White Sox and already has been signed for the job this year.

EQUIPMENT IN ROPE FACTORY COSTS $25,000

ORANGE, Feb. 2.—With a force of from 65 to 70 men at work installing new machinery, the Western Cordage company on West Palm street will begin the manufacture of 15-inch rope the first of the week.

The making of this size rope has been made possible by the installation of $25,000 worth of new machinery, requiring two ship masts. This machinery has been installed in the new addition to the cordage plant, which was built recently at a cost of $5000 and has a floor space of 80 square feet. The machine for making the rope weighs about 38,000 pounds.

The new equipment was put in to supply an increasing demand for larger rope than the factory had facilities to manufacture.

The large rope is used chiefly on ships.

From the rope over four inches in diameter the size varies to binding twine. Hemp and sisal twine are also outputs of the factory.

Last month was the biggest month from a sales standpoint that the Cordage company has yet known. A double shift has been employed for the past eight weeks.

SIDEWALKS IN LOS ALAMITOS COST $20,000

LOS ALAMITOS, Feb. 2.—Los Alamitos is to have new sidewalks. Plans are going ahead today for beginning work on a $20,000 project, which will enable 150 children to answer the school bell without walking in the streets. Workmen will be able to keep the mud off their shoes in the winter and the community will begin to take on the aspect of a more metropolitan town.

These advantages, named by those who advocated the sidewalk program before the board of supervisors, are to be attained despite the fact that objectors to the proposition pointed out that the resulting tax burden would be too high, that it would force many residents to leave the community, thereby depriving it of its store and post office.

The supervisors, after listening to the objections decided to go ahead with the project when it was ascertained that the owners of the majority of the frontage on the streets concerned favored the program.

Brother and Sister Are Reunited in Warner Home

Happily greeting each other after a separation of many years, a sister and brother, Mrs. E. G. Warner of this city, and Dr. O. H. Johnson of Manchester, N. H., are making every moment of the California visit of Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, a happy one. Chief in point of interest, was the family dinner and reunion staged at the Warner home, 1516 Willis street.

Gathered for the happy event with Mr. and Mrs. Warner, were Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Johnson and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Johnson, Los Angeles; Mrs. Nina Staples of San Diego; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barnard and son John, and Mrs. Chauncey Moore and baby daughter, Sally Ann. Mrs. Barnard is Katharine Warner Barnard, one of the city's favorite soloists, and Mrs. Moore is Marjorie Warner Moore, equally gifted and popular.

Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will remain for an extended stay in the Southland, dividing their time between Santa Ana, Los Angeles and Monrovia relatives. It is the first time that the sister and brother have seen each other since the Warners were hosts to Dr. and Mrs. Johnson in Chicago during the days of the World's Fair.

Mrs. Moore yesterday received a wireless from her husband, the genial Lieutenant "Dinty" Moore who made such warm friends in this city, stating that he was to sail today from Manila for home. He should arrive here about March 1, and after a month here, he and Mrs. Moore with the adorable baby daughter that he has not yet seen, will leave for Indiana to visit his people.

They will then leave for Annapolis where Lieutenant Moore will take a year's post-graduate course followed by a year in some college not yet determined upon.
Mr. and Mrs. Warner and their guests were today in Los Angeles where they will remain for a several days' visit in the A. A. Johnson home. Dr. and Mrs. Johnson will go to Monrovia from there, before returning to Santa Ana for a more extended stay.

Mrs. Slabaugh Attends Sorority Affair in Chapter House

Yesterday was an enjoyable day in the annals of the Alpha Chi Omega chapter house at the University of Southern California, for mothers of the charming girls of the sorority, were welcomed at an informal "open house" and bridge. Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh of West Santa Clara avenue, whose daughter, Miss Virginia Slabaugh, is a member of the sorority, served as one of the hostesses for the affair, and took part in a pleasant afternoon.

Scores of mothers called during the interval, some remaining for a round of bridge, others lingering only long enough to enjoy the delicious coffee, sandwiches and cake served buffet style all afternoon. In serving, the mothers' gift to their daughter's chapter house, a handsome buffet for their dining room, was called into play and was greatly admired.

The Alpha Chi Omega house is a spacious and attractive place in Spanish style, boasting two artistic patios. Mothers of members are aiding in refurbishing it by an occasional generous gift such as that of yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. Slabaugh are expecting Miss Virginia's return for a visit and rest from her studies, at the close of examinations this week. She will be here for several days.

MENUS for the Family

By SISTER MARY
BREAKFAST—Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, eggs poached in milk on graham toast, fried hominy, syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Cream of celery soup, croutons, spinach salad, brown bread, baked Indian pudding, milk, tea.
DINNER—New England boiled dinner, tomato jelly salad, crisp cookies, canned peaches, milk.

Corned beef or fat salt pork can be used in a "boiled dinner" as the cook prefers. If pork is used, the vegetables and meat can be cooked together to advantage since the vegetable flavor the meat quite delicately and deliciously. If corned beef is used, the vegetables should be cooked in the meat broth after the meat is done.

Baked Indian Pudding
Two tablespoons corn meal, 3 cups milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 4 tablespoons molasses, 1-2 cup seeded raisins, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon ginger, 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 egg.

Mix cornmeal with one-fourth cup cold water. Heat 2-3 cups milk to the boiling point and stir into cornmeal. Cook over boiling water for fifteen minutes. Stir in butter, molasses, raisins, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Remove from heat and add egg well-beaten. Turn into a well-buttered pudding dish and pour over remaining half cup of milk. Bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes. Serve with or without hard sauce.

Are Homes Wrecked By Babies

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Monsieur L. F. Naffziger, the most prominent divorce lawyer of the American colony in Paris, says: "If a couple lives through the first year without too much discord their chances of staying married all their lives are 70 per cent good."

"If their marriage goes well over five years, they are good until after 15 or 20 years of married life. That is the second great critical age."

Judge Ben Lindsey is again heard from to the effect that "the middle-aged sweetie" is the rock that is likely to wreck the ship of marriage—which would back up to the letter the statement of the French lawyer.

Now comes a rather astonishing announcement from the oracle on marriage. One cannot blame Judge Lindsey for radical statements. He is merely telling one-half of the world how the other half lives, giving the facts of his experience. He hasn't made the facts. We may listen or not as we choose.

"It's all bunk about a baby keeping the couple together," says Judge Lindsey. "That may be true sometimes, but in my experience I've frequently found that trouble comes right after the birth of the first baby."

I can only add that if such is the case and this is the stuff that human beings are made of, it all looks too hopeless to correct.

If children are going to be looked upon as a plague instead of a blessing, the human race had better stop right now.

High School Friends Are Assembled for Merry Party

A happy party in honor of her seventeenth birthday was given early in the week for Miss Maybelle Ball, charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ball, 111 West Seventeenth street.

All details of the evening were kept secret, and through the clever planning of Miss Enid Bowles, the honoree was kept engrossed until the dinner hour, when she entered the dining-room to discover her close school friends grouped around a beautifully arranged table.

Mrs. Ball had used sweet peas as a centerpiece, and their pastel tints were also shown in the nut cups and the gay balloons that floated above them and formed dinner favors. A delicious birthday dinner was served by Mrs. Ball, assisted by her daughters, the Misses Josephine and Winifred Ball, and Frances Bourne.

The evening was spent in playing bunko in which Miss Enid Bowles took first prize, and Miss Katherine Chapman, low. Miss Maybelle was presented with an array of lovely gifts from her guests who were Dorothy Bourne, Adahuth Ellis, Helen Stein, Enid Bowles, Willoma Patterson, Katherine Chapman, Florence Nuffer, Emma Tannenbaum, Willina Bell, Marion Parsons and Cornell Swain.

Local Artists to Give Important Concert In Los Angeles

Santa Ana friends today learned of the interesting musical event scheduled for Monday night in Los Angeles, when Madame Manuela V. Budrow will be featured in the third of the concert series presented by the Professional Arts Guild.

Mme. Budrow, or "Mme. Manuela Gabriela" as she is known professionally, will be presented at Bovard auditorium, and many Santa Ana friends and admirers of her lovely voice are planning to be in the audience. To render the concert even more inviting, that master pianist, Earl Fraser, will serve as accompanist.

Old Italian numbers of the 15th and 16th centuries, will be used by the singer in her opening group, and her second group will be composed of Arabian, Hungarian and Neapolitan songs, all of which she will sing in the vernacular. After an American group, that beautiful aria, "Malediction" from Meyerbeer's "The Prophet," will be a feature of the program and the closing numbers will be all-Spanish, the singer's own mother tongue.

The concert will begin promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

Student Nurses Given Coveted Caps with Due Ceremony

A ceremonial during which a little group of student nurses at the county hospital received their caps, was held as one of the interesting events of the week, in the chapel at the hospital.

These "preliminary students" who form the class of 1930, have chosen the orange blossom as their flower and the orange and white as their class colors, which were suggested by the ribbons tying the neat programs prepared for the evening. The entertainment opened with a march played by Mrs. Salisbury followed by the song "I Love You, Orange County." This had been written by one of the girls to be sung to the air of "I Love You, California," and was both pretty and highly appreciated.

Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, the capable superintendent who is doing so much for the organization, made an address of impressive interest, after which the group of seven young nurses received their caps from the hand of Grace Elisabeth Lansing. A charming candle ceremony closed the formal program, with Julia M. Salisbury presenting the candles.

The students are Eva Varnell Addy, Julia Fern Dingman, May Elizabeth Hookton, Beulah Fay Heskett, Mervena Ritchey, Florence May Swenson and Lois A. Walker. After they had received their caps and the friendly congratulations offered by the assembled relatives and friends, the remainder of the evening was spent happily in dancing and music.

In addition to the 1930 class so proudly receiving the first "sign manual"—the caps, there is a large class of first year students just entering—fifteen in all, a splendid class for the county.

Already a new nurses' home has been constructed at the hospital where improvements and additions are constantly being made under the wise supervision of Dr. Zaiser.

Many friends and relatives gathered at St. Ann's Catholic church yesterday morning for the 8 o'clock wedding of Miss Christine Helen Hagemann, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Borchard, to John Teckstra, an event of much beauty and charm.

The church was brightened with many sweet peas in pink and orchid tints. Miss Hagemann wore a pretty gown of soft blue crepe satin, and was attended by Miss Martha Engelke, wearing shell pink crepe satin.

Mr. Teckstra was assisted by his brother, Peter Teckstra, and the impressive ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Father Connolly. After a period of congratulations, a pretty wedding breakfast was served at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Borchard, where the bride has lived since her arrival from Hanover, Germany, just 14 months ago.

Mr. Teckstra was born in Holland but has been in the United States for some seven years. After a honeymoon in San Diego, the young people will make their home on a ranch south of the city.

Yesterday's meeting of Spurgeon Missionary society was an unusually interesting and enjoyable one, from the opening song of the morning hours to the closing prayer of the late afternoon.

Mrs. A. A. Jones had charge of the morning's Bible study, selecting her lesson from the first chapter of Acts. Mrs. Moffett Rhodes, wife of the pastor, read the day's chapter from the mission study book adopted by the society, bringing the hour to noon and the covered dish luncheon enjoyed by all the members.

In the afternoon, the president, Mrs. Henry Donnan, conducted the business session, during which reports from officers and committee chairmen were given. Mrs. George Dickson led the devotionals, after which a literary program was given under the direction of Mrs. C. W. McNaught. She chose "The Old and New Versions of Missionary Service," and gave one of the most interesting programs of the winter.

Woman's Missionary

The Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church met in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Beautiful roses and sweet peas were used as decorations. The president, Mrs. W. H. McPeak, presided. The devotional service was led by Mrs. C. T. Eisele on the subject of "Christ and the Home."

A short business session was held. Temperance items were given by Mrs. Mattie Smith, Mrs. R. R. Smith, Mrs. Will Breckenridge, Mrs. Emma Noble, Mrs. J. A. Porter, Mrs. William Eisele and Mrs. Lockhart.

The program was in charge of Mrs. William Smart. Her subject was "The Home." The home was represented by the committee being seated at a well appointed table, while Mrs. Gertrude Hettman very sweetly sang "Home Sweet Home" accompanied on the piano.

Mrs. Will Breckenridge. A paper on "The Home" was read by Mrs. Jessie Duckett. A paper on "The Christian Home" by Miss Charlotte Pirigo. A short drama on "The Home" was very cleverly put on by the committee. Mrs. William Smart represented Syria, and Mrs. Duckett represented Korea. The two gave a picture of the home life of the Koreans.

Mrs. C. C. Dunbar's part was Japan and told of the home life of the Japanese. Miss Charlotte Pirigo had China, and gave the home life of the Chinese.

Mrs. James Breckenridge's subject was India and she told of the life of the people of India. Mrs. Scott Thompson represented Africa and told of the homes in Africa.

These women were in costume of the country they represented and were seated around the table as they told of the home life of each country. The committee in charge was Mrs. William Smart, Mrs. James Breckenridge, Miss Charlotte Pirigo, Mrs. Jessie Duckett and Mrs. C. C. Dunbar. During the social hour the committee served tea and wafers.

Enjoyable Dinner and Bridge Is Given in Briggs Home

An informal charm that seems always to distinguish the intimate little parties given by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Briggs, was apparent in the gathering at their North Broadway home Tuesday evening, when a group of friends responded to invitations to dine and play bridge.

Mrs. Briggs had planned an effective arrangement of Japanese quince for her table, the vivid flame-like blossoms silhouetted against the snowy napery, in the glow of green wax candles which rose from silver candlesticks.

Covers were placed for the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs, and for Mr. and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson, Dr. J. F. Boyd, Miss Rosa Boyd, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Flood, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Winslow and Mr. and Mrs. John Tubbs. Returning to the drawing room, the guests formed in groups of four around the bridge tables, where honors were gained by Dr. and Miss Boyd, with Mr. and Mrs. Winslow scoring low. Attractive gifts were presented both winners and losers.

Nursery School Head To Speak Here

Teachers and parents of children of the kindergarten age, have an interesting feature in store for Monday afternoon when Miss Barbara Greenwood, head of the nursery school of University of California at Los Angeles, will lecture at 2:30 o'clock in the Congregational church.

Miss Greenwood is recognized as an able and well-informed woman on methods of working with small children. She spoke here in November and was received enthusiastically. And since that time, many requests have been made for another talk. Her subject Monday afternoon will be "Environment of Young Children at Home and at School."

Kindergarten teachers of the city responsible for bringing the speaker here, are anticipating a large crowd for the afternoon, and have announced that mothers throughout the county will be welcomed, as they feel that her message is so vital, that it should have wide circulation.

THE KNYMITE

STORY BY NAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNOX

NEA U. S. PAT. OFF.

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

The Times shook the old man's hand. "The dog howled to beat the band. Said Scouty, 'Say, what ails him? Is he scared of us, or what? I'll pat him. Then he will not fuss, and maybe he will play with us. What is his name?' The old man promptly answered, 'It is Spot!'

"Here, Spot!" cried Clowny. "Come on, hound. Be friendly! Chase me all around. I'll take you to a nearby stream where you can get a drink." And, as he ran, the dog ran, too. It seemed exactly like he knew what Clowny said. They reached the little stream in a wink.

"I'll show you how to drink with ease," said Clowny, on his hands and knees. He leaned far forward, then dipped down until he had his fill. The big dog took his turn and then they went back to the bunch again. "What can we do now?" Carpy asked. "We've heaped of time to kill."

"Twas then the kindly woodsman spied their cracker box. He loudly cried, 'I'll tell you what. Let's make some wheels. I'll saw them from a tree. It won't take long, and when they're done, I'll show you how to have some fun. If all you lads are seeking sport, just leave the plans to me.'

This pleased the bunch. They said they'd help, and as the dog began to yelp they looked around among the trees to find one that was down. Then Scouty cried, "Hurrah! It's found. A beauty's right here on the ground." The woodsman grabbed his saw and said, "I'll do this thing up brown."

"If someone wants to help, just lend a hand, and grab the other end," Wee Scouty did, and loudly cried, "Just leave the help to me." They sawed and sawed for quite a while, and then the bunch began to smile. Four wheels were cut right off the trunk, as neat as they could be.

the feminist concede woman's right to the job for which she is best fitted, her specialty! Carey is simply assuming that housework is every woman's specialty whereas this is one of the greatest jokes ever imagined.

Carey gets all steamed up because unmarried women seem perfectly unconscious of owing any duty to the race. This argument always makes me snicker—just as if any man or woman ever married as a duty to the race, or for any reason except that they wanted to for personal selfish egotistic reasons. Just as other people choose not to marry for the same reason!

His whole argument seems to be that the woman who is not the old-fashioned stay-at-home woman must necessarily become masculine. "The wife who would not tolerate effeminacy in a man insists on masculine activities for herself," he writes. And the truth is that women have never been so feminine as today! The only difference is that they are honestly feminine. They will not flatter and deceive and be coy and wheedle and pout and blarney and indulge in all the traditional feminine deceptions which men so love and hate to part with.

Are you now done up brown, Mr. Carey? I certainly would love to see you tear your best pants on a gooseberry bush!

Beauty Chats

By ANN ALYSIS

You think of your teeth as being white in color, but are they, really? Or are they only white by comparison with the tint of the complexion and the red of the lips and the gums?

Yes, to the last question. We have called the teeth the jewels of the mouth because of their luster and flashing appearance when we smile, and their general resemblance to pearls. In color they resemble pearls more than any other jewel. Chemically they have points or elements in common with that beautiful stone. And, as with these jewels, there are many gradations in hue.

A few days ago I had the privilege of looking over some samples of artificial teeth intended to be used by the dentist in matching up his patients' teeth in color and size. There were at least thirty gradations of color among those samples—and not one tooth was white!

For the most part they were of some shade of grey, varying from light to dark through 30 stages, while many were distinctly of a yellow cast. Blondes have the lighter shades, and brunets the darker, as a usual thing.

Then, shall we use any preparation whose declared purpose is to bleach pearly shaded teeth to white? What do you say? Your common sense will tell you not to do it. Any chemical powerful enough to alter the pigmentation of teeth will be powerful enough to injure structural elements too.

EAT THE THEATRE

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE

"The Girl in the Pullman," an hilarious comedy drama with a compartment car as the principal background, is the title of Marie Prevost's new picture which will be on view at the Yost Broadway theater beginning Thursday.

William Collison, author of two of Miss Prevost's recent successes, "Up in Mabel's Room," and "Getting Gertie's Garter," wrote the story. Erle C. Kenton directed this picture, following his success in his direction of "The Palm Beach Girl," with Bebe Daniels, and "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary," featuring May Robson. Harrison Ford plays opposite Miss Prevost in her latest stellar vehicle.

WEST END THEATRE

As is usual with pictures starring Ranger, the popular police dog, a human cast which measures very favorably in talent with the canine celebrity was chosen for "The Swift Shadow," current attraction at the West End theater.

Lorraine Eason, who is perhaps best known for her work with Al Cooke and Kit Guard in the series of H. C. Witwer's pictures, plays the feminine lead. She is also popular for her stage appearance in the "Follies" and in "Sunny." Miss Eason is a native of the south, having been born and educated in Norfolk, Va.

The leading man, Sam Nelson, has a long screen record, dating back to the days of the "Keystone Cops" of mirthful fame.

NAMES DISCARDED AS LIFE HANDICAPS

PARIS, Feb. 2.—Although a poet has told us that names mean nothing, there are many Frenchmen who have had their names changed by the competent authorities. It started in the year 1540, when one of the valets of King Francis I asked his master for permission to change his name from Le Mauvais (Bad Man) to Le Daim (The Deer). It was granted.

Since those days the valet's example has been followed by thousands of persons. At present the council of state is the authority to which demands must be addressed. The decisions are published in the "Journal Officiel." Looking through copies of this official publication for the last few years, the United Press discovered names such as the following, the names being translated into English to give them their real significance on account of which their unfortunate owners wanted them changed: Assassin, Stupid, Pauper, Beggar, Tramp, Pig, Cat, Dog, Idiot, Swine, Cutthroat.

A woman of 77 was authorized to change her name, Catin, meaning something lower than a coquette to Constance. A man whose family name was Odein, the word generally used to indicate that the wife of the bearer is not what she ought to be, didn't realize this until he was 37 years old. He then had it changed.

This question of names has another side, too, which proves inconvenient for some people. An announcement in the official publication registers the fact that

Pierre Marcel was forbidden to publish books under that name, which was his own, because another man had taken it as a pen name and was entitled, according to the court's decision, to keep it for himself exclusively.

In the great majority of cases the demands for change of name are made when the petitioner is more than 25 years old. The reason is that persons bearing ridiculous names do not become aware of it until they desire to get married, or start a business or look for promotion in the public service administration. Then they realize their handicap.

In early Saxon marriages the father of the bride delivered one of her shoes to the bridegroom who touched her head with it as a symbol of his authority.

Good demand was in progress in Steels, Motors, Utilities, Motor Accessories and Mining issues. Some selling developed in Ralls and Oils, although the former made a recovery toward the close.

Montana Power was up more than five points; Radio three. Vanadium Steel more than four, while Atlantic Refining broke more than four and Houston Oil 2 1/2.

In the motor division, General Motors met improved demand while good advances were scored by Studebaker, Buick, Hudson, Chrysler and Pack.

CHICAGO B.D. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Wheat and corn worked fractionally higher from an early decline during a quiet session on the Chicago board of trade today.

Wheat showed little change most of the day. Cash wheat was unchanged.

Corn was firm, rallying easily from an early dip. Large receipts aided the early decline. Cash corn was unchanged.

Flour was neglected, as usual, and followed other grains in a very dull session. Cash oats were unchanged. The upturn at mid-session proved to be only a transient rally and all grains declined during the final hours. Wheat and corn lost the ground they recovered and closed sharply lower.

Flour futures: Wheat 1/2 to 1/4 lower; corn 1/4 to 1/2 off and oats 1/4 to 1/2 down.

Provisions closed lower.

The Comedy

I MUST BE GETTING DIPPY. I CAN'T NOTICE NOTHING WITH MYSELF. I CAN MAKE KIND OF A FACE I WANT TO. I FEEL THE SAME AS EVER BUT I BEEN DOING SUCH FUNNY THINGS!

THE SHERIFF IS DOWN-STAIRS WITH A WARRANT CHARGING YOU WITH INSANITY. YOUR BROTHER-IN-LAW IS DETAINING HIM TO GET YOU OUT THE BACK WAY BEFORE THEY CAN SERVE IT.

NOW MY ADVICE TO YOU IS TO GO HOME AND START ALL OVER AGAIN. YOU'VE BEEN TRYING TO SELL STOCKS AND THAT'S ASKING TOO MUCH OF YOUR MENTAL CAPACITY. NOW YOU GO HOME AND START WITH YOUR A-B-C'S AGAIN AND WHEN YOU GET TO A SPOT WHERE IT'S A MENTAL EFFORT. QUIT. IT WON'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE IF YOU NEVER FINISH THE ALPHABET.

AT OUR NEW OFFICE

Five or ten acres on one of our busiest boulevards with Valencia oranges on the entire place. Large palms surround the property on both road sides, making it one of the most beautiful building corners in the county. An estimated $7500 crop will provide for all the necessities this coming year. $25,000 will buy five acres or $40,000 the entire place. Wouldn't you like to invest in something real nice? No. 2478.

EVENING SALUTATION

"The thing that in this life is the most worth-while.
That costs the least and counts the most,
Is just a friendly smile."

A PENDING BOYCOTT IN INDIA

The news comes from London that Sir John Simon is on his way to India as head of the Indian Statutory Commission, a body appointed by the British government to investigate the working of partial Indian self-rule which has been in operation since 1919. This commission was planned when the Reforms Act of 1919 was passed which introduced the system of dyarchy in the Indian provinces. According to that system certain Indian subjects who are called "Transferred subjects" are administered by Indian ministers who are responsible to the legislature, other subjects are "reserved subjects" who are under executive council, appointed by the governor, and responsible to the British Parliament.

The announcement of the Sir John Simon commission was to have been made three months ago, but the news of its personnel leaking out created such a stir in India that the government felt it advisable to find some way of placating the Indian people who were highly incensed because they were not represented on the committee. Failing in his attempt to get the Indian leaders to greet the investigating body with equanimity the announcement was finally made and now the commission is soon to arrive in India.

But now the President of the Indian National Congress, has called upon all Indians to make an effective boycott.

"Indian people," he says in stating his reasons for a boycott, "as the Congress has rightly claimed, are entitled to determine their own constitution either by a round-table conference or by a convention parliament. That claim has been definitely negated by the appointment of the commission... That, of course, is the fundamental objection (to the commission). The second reason is that we cannot be parties to an inquiry into our fitness for Swaraj or for any measure of responsible government. Our claim for Swaraj is there and it is only a question of negotiation and settlement between the British Government and the Indian people. The third reason is undoubtedly the affront to Indian self-respect involved in the deliberate exclusion of Indians from the commission... The last reason for the boycott is the spirit which lies behind these proposals. There is no change of heart except in the direction of greater hardening."

The matter of the appointment of the commission is embarrassing to the Labor party inasmuch as one of their leaders, Ramsay MacDonald, was consulted on the personnel of the commission and now the tone of the commission is contrary to that party's outspoken sympathy with home rule for India.

Sir John Simon, the head of the commission, and by far the strongest individual on it whose opinion will be most influential in the report is the possessor of one of the most lucrative law practices in Britain. It is estimated to be worth $300,000 a year. It is reported that he is sure of a brilliant future in domestic politics where, with Sir Herbert Samuel he is regarded as a possible successor to Lloyd George in the leadership of the Liberal party.

Sir John may have undertaken this task in India fired with a zeal for the welfare of India, fully ready to sacrifice all his personal ambitions if necessary in fulfilling that purpose. And the sacrifice may be necessary if the truth of the situation in India is to be presented. Because if he returns and reports that the people of India could get along very well with home rule if they had more of it or that they are conducting their affairs, where they have control, sufficiently well to justify the continuance of the present arrangement he and his report will be very unpopular with his own supporters in Britain. But the Baldwin government undoubtedly knew their men when they appointed Sir John Simon to head the commission and when they made the other appointments.

A MEANINGFUL VOTE

The Jones Bill has passed the Senate. This bill provides for the expansion of our merchant marine, keeping it in the hands of the government. There is a provision in the bill that makes it necessary for the unanimous consent of the Board of Control to be gained before any of the ships can be sold. This provision practically insures that the government shall hold and develop our merchant marine and that it will not go into private hands.

We have not been very friendly to the idea of large expenditure of monies by the government, either for the support of a merchant marine for government ownership and control, or in the shape of a subsidy in the hands of private parties. It would appear, however, that the general sentiment of Congress is on behalf of government support of the American merchant marine, differing mainly as to whether it would be in the hands of private parties or whether it shall be controlled by the government itself. This is the issue that divided the Senate in its vote upon the particular bill.

President Coolidge has made the threat that if the bill were enacted he would veto it.

We seriously doubt whether a two-third majority could be obtained to pass this measure over the President's veto. We would disagree with the President however, in his position and on the issue as to whether the government should expend its own money or whether it should turn over to private parties money to expend on behalf of all the people; we would be distinctly in favor of retaining it in the hands of the representatives of the people themselves.

The vote on this proposition is particularly interesting as being possibly a forerunner of the vote that might be had upon the Boulder Dam with its power provision, for the issue involved in the Swing-Jones Bill, or at least one of the great issues of the bill is the same one around which the battle is being fought in the Jones Bill. We hope that the vote on the Jones Bill will be a prophecy of what the vote on the Boulder Dam will be; though we realize that the Jones Bill is more powerful and far-reaching than the Boulder Dam proposition than there were against the bill which has just passed. But at any rate, we can rest assured that Congress is willing to consider a question on its merits and the matter of public ownership cannot be raised as a mere bugaboo to frighten them into the point that they will refuse to support a measure simply because it has that element in it, which the Johnson Bill has only in the limited degree necessary for the protection of the people's rights.

THE CLOWN IN POLITICS

It is a bit hard to maintain one's faith in his sense of humor when so serious a magazine as the Current History treats the object of one's humor with respect. The February number features an article by Mayor Thompson of Chicago, "Shattering Our Idols" with replies by Rupert Hughes, Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, Dana C. Munro, Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, and Captain Elbridge Colby, U. S. A. If Mayor Thompson is given the valuable space to write on his excursions into education it unfortunately follows that more worthy men must write replies.

Very few people have taken Mayor Thompson's charges seriously. The one serious aspect is the commentary on political trends. It is a sorrowful and almost tragic travesty on democracy when a man who is so unscrupulous as to capitalize the grossest ignorance can be elected by a plurality of 83,000 votes in the second city in America. If Thompson can do that, what might not his near neighbor, Voliva, who believes that the earth is flat and is traveling now to prove it, do if he made the right appeal?

But in the two largest cities of our country, cities where many a heart-torn individual has worn himself to an early grave toiling for the poor people living and laboring at the mercy of unscrupulous grafters, we have a couple of clowns carrying the more serious responsibilities of those cities as tulle ruffs about their necks.

It is only faith in the lessons of history which saves us from blank despair in facing such a situation. But while Chicago's mayor is blundering around where fools should fear to tread, the thugery rampant in Chicago has accrued to Chicago so vile a reputation that already it is beginning to effect its commerce. And a business loss is what the Chicagoan will feel rather than any effect upon the education of his children of the attempt, as Rupert Hughes puts it, of trying to breed pigs, hypocrites and cads in the name of patriotism.

Fur Traders' Industry
Still Active In State

San Bernardino Sun

As early as 1826, when Jedediah Smith and James Ohio Pattle headed separate expeditions into California, fur was the lure that urged the explorer westward. The fur traders played their part in the history of California for it was from their tales of the region that caused the subsequent march of the Americans across the continent to this new land. But that the fur trade still plays an important part in the commerce of the state is not generally known.

According to an announcement of the state fish and game commission a total of 278,202 skins netted the commercial trappers licensed in California, the sum of $743,211.52 during the three year period that ended last February.

Raccoon skins brought the most money. Total of $3,891 of these pelts brought the trappers $182,324.45. Other pelts and the order of their importance included skunk, coyote, mink and gray fox. The beaver was the fur sought by both Smith and Pattle. The season, closed for a number of years, was re-opened in 1925 and 4,019 skins brought the trappers $49,698.95. A beaver pelt was worth $12.90 in 1927.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri

WHAT AILS THE CHILD?
In the days gone by when a child gave his mother trouble or annoyed the teacher he was pronounced a bad child, attended to, put in his place and given to understand that he was in the wrong. His duty to improve his ways was pointed out to him and he was expected to do his duty.

Nobody said anything about the reason for his badness. No excuses were ever made for him beyond a "Well, he is young. A child is a child." Nobody asked him what he thought of when he heard the word "cake." He was given a piece if he was good and he was deprived of his share if he had been bad. Discipline was simplicity itself.

Then we began probing the inner life of the child. We found many things to interest us and much that we did not and do not understand. We began talking about heredity and environment and complexes and fears and fixations and curves and I. Q.'s. We discovered glands. We discovered the pre-school age. We discovered anew the complicated riddle of childhood.

Any research that brings out information about children is to be welcomed. Any knowledge about the growth and development of children is a great gift to mankind. The more searching, the more discovering, the better for all of us. But let me say this:

A child is a complicated thing. He is made up of a quality that defies analysis. Who and what he is can never be determined quite by any one born of this earth. All we can gather is a sheaf of hints, signals from the depths of his being, suggestions, brief glimpses of strange processes. Any one of such demonstration is a miracle. Small wonder that upon watching a vision of any one of them a searcher grows wild with delight.

But one swallow does not make a summer. What if this child has a gland that isn't functioning. It MAY do thus and so for his life and again it may NOT. Along with that gland there is a host, an unnumbered, illimitable host of other forces, other qualities, other processes at work. We cannot give a decision until the whole of the evidence is in and God waits for that until the third day of the passing.

I say this because many a parent, and worse than that, many a child is deciding that fate has decreed a life of failure or a life of fame has been laid out for a human being and all that is left for him to do is to wait therein. It simply isn't so. An I. Q. alone is not a final word on the success or failure of a child. Heredity alone decides nothing. Environment alone will not give the answer to a child's query of the future that awaits him. Glands are not the whole of his being. Neither are his complexes the whole of his mind.

Welcome each contribution to the field of knowledge that surrounds the study of the growth of childhood but do not settle upon one point and live or die by it. Human life is complicated beyond the power of human understanding. No child has ever been fully developed since time began. Each is a bundle of potential powers. Each is an experiment of nature sealed before leaving the laboratory. Learn all you can. Check your child's growth by the new knowledge but never consider it final. Child study is to help us understand children, not to label them, not to limit them. Hold your faith in childhood in spite of the tests and the curves and the norms.

TIME AND THE RADIO
I wish my radio would bring
The lilt and trill and quiver
Of songs the thrashers used to sing
Beside the winding river—
I wish, that with an eager ear
Amid the twilight hushes
The river's voice I still might hear—
The river's, and the rushes.

I'd like to listen to the sound
From some long lost September
Of laughing child and baying hound
That I so well remember,
The ruffling whirr of passing quail
Which through the dusk came winging,
The cow bells jangling in the vale
The distant church bells ringing.

And oh I'd like to hear the shout
Of long deferred elation
Along in June, when school let out
The day before vacation,
And hear the echoes far beyond
A few short moments after
Of splashing in the shaded pond,
And happy boyish laughter.

But none of these old fashioned things
From lands long since forsaken
The radio speaker ever brings
Old memories to waken.
For science never yet has cast,
Despite its magic power,
A net whose mesh can hold the past
For one brief fleeting hour.

Go To Your Banker First

Here is a little word for the average citizen who has saved a little money and wants to invest it.

Get the advice of your banker before you buy any stocks. Even if the board of directors of the company you plan to invest in includes some men in whose ability and integrity there is no doubt, don't assume from that that the stock is necessarily safe.

A middle-western business commission recently announced that prominent names on a directorate cannot be accepted as guarantees of safety. Unfortunately, it announced, there are always a few prominent men who allow themselves to be named directors of new concerns, but who do not see to it that these concerns are conducted properly.

The banker is in a position to know. Showy directorates do not impress him. Talk to him before you buy any stocks.

Uncommon
Sense
By John Blake

Do Your Work—Defer Your Worries

I was once a passenger in a little tug boat, which had been engaged by army engineers to make a survey at the mouth of a great river.

One morning a storm overtook us while we were a few miles out of the estuary, and in the deep water of the ocean.

It was a storm of hurricane proportions.

The tug was broad of bow and clumsy of build, with not very much power.

She had been built to haul light barges up and down the river.

We were three days at sea, having been blown far out by the gale, and unable to get back because of some damage to the engines.

When it was all over, I asked the captain how close we had come to being lost forever.

"Closer than I care to think of," he said. "I have been worrying about it this morning. I began to worry about it as soon as we were safely tied up to the dock."

"Why then?" I asked. "Weren't you worried when we were blowing out to sea?"

"Not a bit."

"You must have known in what a dangerous fix we were."

"Nobody knew better."

"Then why weren't you worried?"

"Why, bless you, I didn't have time to worry. I had work to do, and a lot of it. I never thought of what might happen to us. I was so busy trying to keep anything from happening."

I have often thought of that little voyage when I have seen or heard people worrying in tight and dangerous situations.

I have known doctors, working beside the beds of extremely ill patients, serene and calm, and doing everything that was possible.

I know that if they had had time to worry they would be worried. But they were engaged with oxygen apparatus, or with other means of restoring breath and strength and heart action, and their minds were as clear as they would have been at any ordinary professional occupation.

It is easy enough to urge people to avoid worry, but it cannot be done.

When a case is sufficiently desperate it must be avoided, for it tangles thought and prevents any sort of mental or physical efficiency.

Plenty of time to worry when it is all over, and when the worry will not interfere with the best that can be done in the crisis.

Many generals are worried before battle, but they forget to worry when the battle is on if they are really great generals.

When there is a gigantic and important task on hand it demands coolness of head, and the possession and use of all the faculties.

No worried person can have these.

He must work fast. He can do all the worrying he wants to later on.

Dr. Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

A NEW START

We often wish that we could live our lives over.

We see where we have made mistakes, and see in the clutch of what untoward things we have been caught, and we would like to start again with the new knowledge we possess.

Most resolutions that are formed are useless because they have not enough steam behind them. We haven't the power to carry them into effect.

The one motivating power that we all have at hand and which we can call on in any emergency is love.

Love something, find something or somebody that you love. Make your resolution for the sake of that love and backed by it.

A resolution that is purely intellectual or purely from the will is not of as much value as one which is backed by the power of a supreme love.

It may be the love of a mother that you have neglected so far but for whom you really feel strong affection. It may be the love of a wife, or children, or a friend. Whatever it is, it is a love for your making will, and it will keep you on the right track.

As well try to run a boat without steam or an engine without gasoline, as try to live your life without love.

It is the motive power that carries the will. All of us love something. Search your heart for a love upon which you can depend for your affection and by that you shall be saved.

Love is the keeping of Commandments and love is the true savior of man. We remember an instance of a woman who was a great sinner, but who was saved because she loved a man. The only thing that counterbalances our wrong conclusions that are based by anything else than falsehood. Love sets standards. Hate is blind. (Copyright 1928, McClure, New York)

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

PORTRAIT OF A DOCTOR

In motoring through a rural section recently on a professional mission I met many country doctors—hard-working but light-hearted men whom I envied for the sense of social usefulness that must be theirs.

Here and there I met doctors who were a bit downcast from the difficulties of their calling—men who would not, I suspect, commend the medical profession to their sons.

In the hope that every disillusioned doctor in America may sooner or later see it, I want to recall some memorable lines from the gifted pen of the great Eliza Barlett.

"There is no process," said this distinguished doctor, "which can reckon up the amount of good which the science and art of medicine have conferred upon the human race."

"There is no moral calculus that can grasp and comprehend the sum of their beneficent operations."

"Ever since the first dawn of civilization and learning, they have been true and constant friends of the suffering sons and daughters of men."

"Through their ministrations and disciplines they have cheered the desponding."

"They have lightened the load of human sorrow."

"They have dispelled or diminished the gloom of the sick-bed."

"They have plucked a pillow of pain from thorns, the hard couch soft with pines of delicious rest."

"They have let in the joy upon the dark and dreary dwellings."

"They have rekindled of hope in the bosom of despair."

"They have called back from the lusterless eye-bloom of the fading cheek."

"They have sent new strength through the falling limbs."

"And, finally, when exhausted all their other resources, fled in their skill—hand philosophy and religion—blunted the arrows of death rendered less rugged and torn the inevitable pathway to the tomb."

Surely it is a high of service at the altars of the art and medicine!

"In the circle of human life we may say with Barlett, not know of any, short and perilous, or martyrdom and self-denial and nobler than the physician. His daily labor is crowded with beauty and his nightly sleep is that others may have beauty. His whole life is a blessing of consolation and hope." (Copyright 1928, McClure, New York)

Baby Talk

By SHIRLEY RODMAN WILLIAMS

FOR the first weeks of a baby's life his only mode of expression is the most stage of self expression, laughing and "cooing" chatter. He enters the stage of self expression by spoken words, but long before he makes himself plainly understood, sometimes vigorously so, or of a grown-up almost immediately learns to distinguish between his own baby. It picks out the hungry, pain or angry cries and adjusts his comfort accordingly. If the new mother will calm herself and ally listen to her baby's cries she will soon learn to distinguish between save herself much agony of worry and severe tension.

OUR new baby is the dearest. But his language is the queerest. He's so very, very little that he doesn't talk at all. He'll be quiet, or wailing. He can sleep and eat most truly. But when it comes to asleep he can't sleep or dream at all.

Seems that all he does is holler. Daddy says, "I'd give a dollar if he were only big enough to talk a bit to me. But this everlasting crying. There is no use in denying. It's worrying because it means most anything, you see."

But my Mother understands him. Says she knows what he's demanding. If he's hungry, wanting, or whatever it may be. Which is lucky for our baby. As we'd do the wrong thing, maybe. Because his cries all sound alike to Daddy and me!
